

Have coffee with a Planner

Have an informal chat, either on-line or in-person, to find out what sort of things we really do, the opportunities available and get some practical advice to develop your career.

It's a great opportunity to gain an insight into the real world of planning.

If you'd like to have a coffee with a planner, drop an email to beverley.watson@rtpi.org.uk with 'coffee with a planner' in the subject line. If there are any particular areas you'd like to explore let us know, but we're always open to a general chat about the opportunities.

By taking part you give consent for the RTPI to share your name and email address with volunteers on the North West Regional Activities Committee for the purpose of confirming your participation and making introductions. All data will be processed in accordance with the RTPI's privacy policy.
